 2019 National Survey of Family Income, Consumption and Wealth (Income and Expenditures)

The Statistics Bureau of Japan (SBJ) conducts the National Survey of Family Income, Consumption and Wealth every five years, with the aim of clarifying income distribution as well as the level and structure of household consumption nationally and by region. This survey was renamed from the National Survey of Family Income and Expenditure conducted before 2014, with comprehensive improvements.

Among the results of the Survey conducted in 2019, items related to income and expenditure were released on February 26, 2021.

● Overview

- Compared to the results of 2014, the expenditure ratio increased for items such as “Food,” “Housing,” and “Medical care.”
- The ratio of “Housing” expenditure in all expenditure is the highest among the age group of “Under 30 Years” compared to other age groups, accounting for 24.1%.
- The expenditure amount for “Education” among households with a household head who graduated from university is about 2.1 times larger than households with a household head whose highest level of academic achievement was graduation from senior high school.
- Among consumption expenditure, the ratio of “Credit card, installment, credit, Electronic Money” is the highest in Chiba Prefecture, accounting for 31.2%.
- The ratio of purchase via “Mail-order selling (Internet)” is the highest in Tokyo Prefecture, accounting for 6.0%.
- The ratio of purchase in “Other municipality (In other prefecture)” is the highest in Nara Prefecture, accounting for 19.1%.

Hereafter, the release of results related to income, and results related to household assets and liabilities will follow in sequence.
