27 Public Employees and Elections

This chapter covers public employees and elections.

The section on public employees contains statistics on the actual and the fixed number of the national and the local public employees.

The section on elections contains statistics on elections of the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate, local assemblypersons and local heads.

Explanations of the Budget and Fiscal Investment and Loan Plan See "5 Public Finance". This chapter covers budgetary fixed number of national public employees.

Appointment Status Survey of National Public Employees in Regular Service This survey has been conducted every year since 1954 by the National Personnel Authority in order to ascertain the situation of appointment of the national public employees in regular service. The survey covers national public employees in regular service (excluding temporarily appointed employees, full-time labourers and part-time employees) on the payroll during the fiscal year. In each fiscal year, surveys are conducted on current employees as of 15 January, new hires and separations from service in the fiscal year.

The Local Government Personnel Management Survey This survey has been conducted by the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications based on 1 April of each fiscal year since 1975 with the aim of investigating the actual situation of numbers of local government employees and their allocation by department, etc., as well as contributing to appropriate personnel management.

Strength of the In-House Groups in the House of Representatives Strength of the In-House Groups in the House of Representatives is a list of the names of the factions in the House of Representatives and the number of members belonging to each faction published by the House of Representatives.

Strength of the Political Groups in the Senate Strength of the Political Groups in the Senate is a list of the names of the factions in the Senate and the number of members belonging to each faction published by the Senate.

Survey on Results of House-of-Representatives General Election and Supreme Court Review Article 6, Paragraph 2 of the Public Offices Election Act states that "the Central Election Management Council must endeavour to promptly inform the electorate of the results of elections". The Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications investigates and publicizes the status of candidates, the results of voting, the results of ballot counting, and national referendums on judges for the Supreme Court of Japan.

Survey on Results of Senate Regular Election Article 6, Paragraph 2 of the Public Offices Election Act states that "the Central Election Management Council must endeavour to promptly inform the electorate of the results of elections". The Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications investigates and publicizes the status of candidates, the results of voting, the results of ballot counting.

Number of Assemblymen and Chiefs of Local Governments by Party The Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications publishes the current status of the parties to which assembly members and chiefs of local governments who are in office as of the end of December each year belong. This survey is conducted on the number of assembly members and chiefs of local governments by party affiliation (the number of members and heads of assemblies of local governments at the time of submitting their respective candidacies pertaining to those who are in office as of 31 December of each year was totalled), the number of consecutive appointments of heads of local governments, and the number of elections held by members and heads of assemblies of local governments. This chapter reports the number of assembly members and chiefs of local governments and prefectures using the results of the survey on members and heads of assemblies of local governments by party affiliation.
