<News Highlights>

* New charts have been added to the Statistics Dashboard!

The Statistics Bureau of Japan (SBJ) is continuously putting effort into providing statistical data that is easy to use, in order to contribute in improving statistical literacy and promoting the utilization of statistical data.

The SBJ added the charts to the Statistics Dashboard, a website offering major statistical data in a visually easy-to-understand manner, and started its provision.

- New chart: Population Pyramid

The chart has been added to display the population pyramid of the area that you want to know in chronological order.

You can easily understand the demographic changes and the future population size, and use it for the aging and the regional revitalization measures.

- New chart: Time series change of the world data

The chart has been added to display the data of G20 on the world map.

It can help you understand international comparisons and time series changes.
